

kiwi grill barbeque

The Kiwi Grill is a wood fired barbeque using the distinctive South American style of cooking over hot coals and logs.

Warmington have developed a new range of stainless steel, wood fired grills, which are not only functional, but look great and are made to last.

The adjustable height of the grill surface, allows precise temperature control for uniform cooking throughout.

Features and Benefits:

- attractive and functional
- adjustable height grill for even cooking
- sloped V shaped grate for fat free cooking
- range of models and sizes available
- made in New Zealand

models: in-built / retro-fit / barbeque / free-standing

The Warmington Kiwi Grill has been designed for cooking delicious mouth-watering meals over hot wood coals.

Using the adjustable grill, and altering the distance between the food and the fire, you can achieve the ideal temperature to cook food to perfection.

The V-groove surface keeps food moist, and allows the juices to be collected in the drip pan for basting or use in sauces.

Made from stainless steel, our grills are durable and practical to make cleaning easy.

1. Retro-fit model (firebox not supplied)

2. In-built model

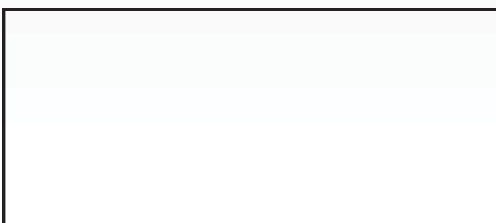

3. Barbeque model

4. Freestanding model

Dia	Model	Features
1.	Retro-fit	Installed into existing fire
2.	In-built	Option to classic Nouveau Fire
3.	Freestanding	Stand-alone model
4.	Barbeque	Versatile and easy to manoeuvre

Available from Authorised Agents Nationwide, or phone: 09 271 0891 for more information.

www.warmington.co.nz